I do not suppose, my dear Caroline, I have forgotten you, but really I find little or no time for writing and as I know Emma will send you all the news, I have nothing to say which will interest her. She is still at Clapham, and does not go to Reading till the 2^d week in July she has paid Georgiana a long visit. I do not suppose you will be here at Hatching till Sept. the change will do her good. I trust you are all going on well, I suppose Harry is now at home for the vacation, I only hope he behaves well and gives you no trouble. I am now at Richmond and am enjoying myself in hearing the Truth preached as it is in Christ. I truly think to be the all in all - as in all things the provident care of the Lord Jesus is manifested towards his people whose eye of faith the hath opened, especially in sending faithful men among the people here, for the very prints of the footsteps of the Lord's grace and favours are conspicuous The one thing to effect the establishment of the Soul from all distracting and distrustful cares and fears must be the assurance of peace and reconciliation with God, for while He is looked upon as an enemy, what can there be but a continual fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation to consume his adversaries Seeing our God is a consuming fire - this very must be the refreshing and ennobling truths of Christ - make not the flesh your residence never expect to build peaceably upon earth while you lay not your foundation in the Dust - We have nothing long lived - but promise Oh, that the Spirit would lead you to the Rock that is higher than yourself, but while you are placed under such a minutes you must feed upon Husks - "I will give them pastors and teachers after my own heart -" I find writing a great exertion, particularly when I touch on one subject - people must see "eye to eye" do we not find that as a face answers face in a glass - there must be some experience to make the living honey sweet to the taste - to my letters can only be acceptable to those who are searching digging, and Seeking after the pearl of great price - May God of His infinite mercy give you grace light and life with kindest love to Mary, believe me ever yours affectionately
